

The chart displays the number of deaths by month for COVID-19 in the United States. The x-axis represents months from June to August. The y-axis represents the number of deaths, with a scale break between 100 and 1,000. A red shaded region highlights the period from July 15 to July 25, 2020, which corresponds to the period of the Wuhan lockdown. The chart shows a sharp increase in deaths starting in mid-July, peaking in late July, and then declining.
